BARNES READY FOR FIGHT

Commences Action to Compel
City to Buy His Land

FOR SCIENCE BUILDING

Hearing of the Cause Set for May 5—Barnes' Exhaustive
Petition Filed by Attorney Kirk

Charles O. Barnes has taken the first step in his campaign to compel the city to purchase his land for the Normal science building site, his attorney, J. P. Kirk, Monday afternoon having served Mayor O. E. Thompson, City Attorney F. W. Green and City Clerk W. E. McLeod with a copy each of a mandamus for Judge Kinne of the circuit court, directing them to appear in court on May 5, to show cause why they shall not deliver to Barnes the $4,500 worth of public improvement bonds, which were issued for that purpose last Saturday.

Barnes' petition is as follows:

1. On the 27th of January, 1902, the electors of said city of Ypsilanti voted in favor of purchasing a site for public improvement purposes for said city of Ypsilanti, said site to be purchased by the council, and that said council of ten aldermen and the mayor are vested with authority over matters that pertain to the city.

2. Afterwards, that said council began to enter into negotiations for the purchase of a suitable site, and at a meeting of said council held in said city, April 11, the following business pertaining to the purchase of said site was transacted:

[Here appears the record of the council meeting, which is in brief that the city attorney was to secure a warranty deed of the Owen property and in case Owen had not deed over his land by 10 a. m., Saturday, for $6,000, he was to deliver $4,500 worth of public improvement bonds to Barnes for his site.]

3. At 10 a. m., Saturday, the said T. C. Owen had not complied with the above resolution of the council, and refused to comply with said resolution within the time specified therein.

4. After the failure of said T. C. Owen to comply with said resolution, on April 12, F. W. Green, the city attorney of said city acting under the above mentioned instructions proceeded to and did secure from your petitioner as above provided, a warranty deed of the above mentioned premises, to be conveyed by the said Barnes, which deed has been delivered to the said city attorney, and is now in his possession.

5. At said last mentioned date there was delivered to said F. W. Green public improvement bonds duly issued by said city, to the amount of $4,500 for said C. O. Barnes and to be delivered to said Barnes.

6. He has performed everything to be performed by him, as required and as agreed to, and has demanded of O. E. Thompson, F. W. Green and W. E. McLeod, who are the respective officers of said city, and who are now in possession of the above mentioned bonds, to deliver said bonds to your petitioner as has been above provided for; and that said request has been refused.

Your petitioner therefore submits that said bonds belong to and are his property but were delivered to another, and moves the court for an order to be directed to said Mayor O. E. Thompson, City Attorney F. W. Green and City Clerk W. E. McLeod, directing them or either of them to show cause if there is any, why they or either of them should not be compelled by a writ of mandamus, issuing from this honorable court, to compel said Mayor O. E. Thompson, City Attorney Green and City Clerk W. E. McLeod or either of them, to deliver said bonds to him, and your petitioner will ever pray, etc.

ANOTHER FACTORY IS IN VIEW

If $30,000 worth of stock of the Cannon Metal Wheel works of Pontiac, which is now being offered for sale at Pontiac for 50 cents on the dollar, is subscribed within the next few days, the Ypsilanti Mfg. Co. will move to Pontiac and combine with the Cannon Co.

Manager John Moon, of the Ypsilanti concern, stated to a reporter Tuesday morning that the plant will continue running in this city until the Cannon Co.'s stock is disposed of at Pontiac, or until arrangements are made to remove to some other place. He said that if Ypsilanti would give land and buildings it would in all probability be possible to bring the Pontiac concern to this city.

If the Ypsilanti and Pontiac companies consolidate Mr. Moon will be the manager of the new concern.

MUST NOT MOLEST HIS WIFE

John Morton has been served with an injunction issued by Judge Kinne, restraining him from molesting or disposing of his property, and also from in any way molesting his wife and child.

The wife left him some time ago, fearing for the safety of herself and the child, and she now seeks to prevent his carrying out his avowed intention of selling the property to raise money to take him to Manitoba.

Morton was connected with the fanning mill company for a time, and he purchased of them the Canadian rights, which is the wherefor of the "Ho, for Manitoba!" slogan, which graced the bills announcing the proposed sale of the property.

THEY SHELVED CAPT. ALLEN

Did the Council at the Meeting Monday Night

WAS EXPECTED TO TALK

On the Normal Site Question
but a Motion to Adjourn
Prevented Him from Being Heard.

The council hall was crowded Monday night with citizens anxious to miss no details of the fight over the Normal science building site, which they expected to come off, but to the disappointment of the crowd the subject was not even mentioned. E. P. Allen was on hand to address the aldermen if he should be invited, but as soon as the regular business was finished Ald. Colby moved to adjourn. The motion was seconded, but before the question could be put, Ald. Moore was on his feet with the remark that there were several legal lights in the room, whom the council might desire to hear discuss the site question.

"Question! Question!" said several of the aldermen.

"Hadn't we better listen to Capt. Allen for a few minutes," persisted Ald. Moore.

"I am afraid you are a little late, Mr. Moore," said the mayor, quietly, and then he proceeded to put the motion to adjourn, which was carried with only one dissenting vote.

No one seemed to know exactly what to do after the adjournment had been taken, and for a minute or more the aldermen and the spectators looked at Capt. Allen as if expecting him to seize the opportunity for his speech.

One of the council had drawn up a resolution calling for a reconsideration of the resolution adopted at the recent special meeting directing the city attorney to buy the Barnes site, Saturday, April 12, if in the meantime Owen had not accepted the council's compromise on the boundary question, but the aldermen ascertained that he did not have votes enough to win out, so the resolution was not presented.

The council voted to macadamize Cross street from Huron street east to the Michigan Central tracks, on the recommendation of the streets and walks committee.

The special committee appointed to determine the number of feet frontage represented in the petition for the macadamizing of River street and the number in the remonstrance, reported that the petition is signed by owners holding 1,150 feet frontage and the remonstrance by those owning 1,452 feet. The matter was laid over for two weeks.

A petition was received from a number of citizens stating that the D., Y., A. A. & J. electric road are maintaining a smoke nuisance at the power house and asking that the council have it abated. Ald. Moore said that the company are making arrangements to put in new stacks and smoke consumers, on which a motion was carried to receive and file the petition.

The board of public works recommended that an annual rental of $1 be charged for water meters, payable semi-annually, and that the city own all meters. The recommendation was laid over for two weeks.

BALL GROUNDS ARE SOLD

Sunday baseball was given a quietus last Monday by the sale of the Lewis club house to George R. Sherwood, who will use the land and building for farm purposes.

The club house is just outside the city limits on the D., Y., A. A. & J. line, and was used last year for Sunday ball, while arrangements were being made for reviving the sport this spring. The place was built for the Lewis pool room, but has been out of commission save for Sunday ball games since the horses ceased to prove profitable.

WHY NOT HAVE AN ATHLETIC FIELD

The Old Fair Grounds Could Be Purchased

AN UNSIGHTLY FENCE

Could Be Torn Down and the Site Tangle Settled—A Solution to a Disagreeable Situation

Many long months have passed since the city began the discussion of the proposition of giving the state a site on which to locate the new science building at the state normal college. The people long since showed their willingness to do the right thing by their votes on the proposition. But notwithstanding all this no site has been obtained yet. The matter should have been a very simple one, but owing to the purpose of certain city officials to make the city's generosity a means of serving certain private ends, the making of the site issue subordinate to the collection of a bad debt for instance, has caused any amount of delay and bad feeling. Out of this has grown in no small degree criminalities and recriminations, bitterness and faction, and no one knows when the end is to come, or whether a site will finally be given or not. This situation has continued until many citizens are weary of the endless delay and talk over the matter. Still the end is not yet. Now the situation being what it is and no immediate promise of any change why would it not be a good thing to drop the whole site project, so far as the city is concerned, and make a counter proposition to the state board of education? Why not leave the site question to the board to deal with as it may see fit, and in place of that proposition buy the Fair grounds for an athletic field? Would it not be possible to do this and get through with it before eternity begins?

An athletic field is greatly needed. The present one is wholly inadequate. It is too small. It is not properly located. The prison fence around it right under the shadow of the buildings of the campus is an offense to many people and it ought never to have been permitted to go up.

The fair grounds are finely located for an athletic field. These grounds are at a very proper distance from the campus. They are accessible by electric line. They will not require any very large outlay to put them in condition for use. There are grand stands and other accessories already there. The grounds are fenced and ready in this particular for use. They are roomy and will meet all demands for all time to come.

These grounds could be purchased and deeded to the state on terms which would permit the city also to use them for any sports it may wish to pull off there. The city ball team and the high school teams should be provided for and this could be done without in any way interfering with the needs of the normal college.

The adoption of this proposition would work no hardship to the college in any way. The institution already has abundant ground for a site for the proposed new building, ground on which it can be located and on which it will make a much better appearance than on any of the sites which have been proposed without in any way, as many citizens believe, interfering with its usefulness. The proposition is well worth careful consideration and a considerable number of prominent citizens have expressed their approval of it and consider it a most satisfactory and possible way out of a very unsatisfactory and annoying situation.

FULLER-M'CARTHY NUPTIALS

Thomas Fuller, the popular former first lieutenant of Co. L, joined the ranks of the Benedicts last evening, endowing with his name and worldly goods Miss Victoria McCarthy, of Monroe. The wedding took place at the home of Abraham Woolsey, of St. John street, this city, Rev. Frank Kennedy officiating. None but the immediate families were present.

A party of about sixty light guards appeared on the scene shortly after the conclusion of the ceremony and made merry with a big drum, until the groom acknowledged their presence by a speech, which he closed by an invitation to all hands to adjourn to a local hostelry and enjoy its hospitality at his expense.

Mr. Fuller is at present in business at Ann Arbor.

THE WITNESS WOULD SMOKE

WHILE GIVING HIS TESTIMONY IN JUSTICE COURT

McKinstry Bound Over to Circuit Court on Charge of Having Saloon Open on Sunday

James McKinstry, the proprietor of the Senate saloon, was bound over to the circuit court Friday morning under $200 bonds by Justice Childs, on the charge of having his saloon open last Sunday morning.

The examination would have been a tame and commonplace affair if it had not been for one of the witnesses, James Ogden, an employee of the Scharf Tag, Label & Box Co., who furnished a continuous performance that will long be remembered by those present.

It had not been intended to swear Ogden, for he has neither a vigorous personality nor the evidences of a particularly strong mentality and in addition appeared to have been drinking, but he interrupted Chief Warner's testimony several times, so he was finally put on the stand.

Were you in the Senate saloon Sunday morning?" asked Prosecuting Attorney Duffy.

"Yes, from 7:15 to 9:15," was the answer.

"Did you have anything to drink?"

"Yes, one drink at 8:20."

"How did you know the time?"

asked the prosecutor.

"By the clock in the saloon," replied Ogden.

"I don't know that the clock was running, though, and I am not sure whether it was 8:20 Sunday morning or 8:20 Saturday evening. Perhaps it was Saturday morning, or Monday or Tuesday. All days are alike to me."

"You said you were in the saloon Sunday morning," reminded Attorney Duffy.

"Be careful not to perjure yourself."

"You can't convict a man of perjury if he doesn't know anything," was the reply, which convulsed the spectators, and put the court and the prosecutor to considerable effort to avoid a hearty laugh, also.

Ogden did not remove his hat until requested to do so by the court, and he persisted in smoking after several warnings from Justice Childs, until the latter was obliged to adopt an authoritative manner and insist that he be obeyed.

Ogden's testimony was of little value, McKinstry being bound over on the strength of Chief Warner's account of how he found the place open shortly after 7 a. m.

CAUTION!

This is not a gentle word—but when you think how liable you are not to purchase, for 75c the only remedy universally known and a remedy that has had the largest sale of any medicine in the world since 1868 for the cure and treatment of Consumption and Throat and Lung troubles without losing its great popularity all these years, you will be thankful we called your attention to Boschee's German Syrup. There are so many ordinary cough remedies made by druggists and others that are cheap and good for light colds perhaps, but for severe Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup—and especially for Consumption, where there is difficult expectoration and coughing during the nights and mornings, there is nothing like German Syrup. Sold by all druggists in the civilized world.

A PURE FOOD FACTORY COMING

Shelley B. Hutchinson and his brother, Ernest Hutchinson, of Battle Creek, will establish a pure food factory in the city, their intention being to form a partnership concern at first and later to organize a company.

The former electric lighting plant at the corner of Cross and River streets, has been leased, and the machinery is on the way.

Mr. Hutchinson says that the concern will probably employ a day and night force of 40 each. The formulas were secured by Ernest Hutchinson at Battle Creek.

IN THE WINTER.

(Benson's Plaster is Pain's Master.)

For coughs and colds Benson's Porous Plasters are an incomparably better remedy than any other—external or internal. Their medicinal properties enter the skin and go straight to the seat of the disease.

They relieve and cure a "seated" cold without disturbing the system or upsetting the stomach. Cough mixtures often nauseate. Benson's Plasters are medicinal in the highest degree, and quickest to act.

Placed on the chest or back or on both at once in serious cases, the good effect is felt immediately. The congestion yields, the cough abates and the breathing improves. Lung or bronchial affections or kidney disease, are cured with the least possible suffering and loss of time.

Benson's Plasters are immeasurably superior to Belladonna, Strengthening, Capsicum or any other combination in plaster form. They are also preferable to ointments, liniments and salves.

Benson's Plasters have received fifty-five highest awards over all competitors; and more than 5,000 physicians and druggists have declared them to be one of the few trustworthy household remedies. For sale by all druggists, or we will prepay postage on any number ordered in the United States on receipt of 25c. each.

Be sure you get the genuine. Accept no imitation or substitute.

TO HAVE FAIR ON BIG SCALE

The Ypsilanti Fair and Racing association was formed by twenty-five representative citizens Friday evening, with the following officers: President, Shelly B. Hutchinson; vice president, Claude Webster; treasurer, Charles M. Hemphill; secretary, R. W. Hemphill, jr.; executive committee—Henry S. Platt, I. N. Swift and R. W. Hemphill, jr.

The plan is to hold two race meetings in the summer and a stock fair in the fall, all three to be on a scale that will attract large numbers from this and the surrounding counties. At each race meeting there will be two $500 stake races and several $300 purses.

The executive committee were instructed to determine dates for the races and the fair, and report at the next meeting of the association to be held Friday, April 25.

The sentiment at the meeting last evening was in favor of reviving on a big scale the old time race meetings and fairs that once kept Ypsilanti to the fore in the local sporting world. The fairs always attracted large crowds and were highly successful financially, while but three of the last twenty years' race meetings have fallen behind in the money question.

FIRE CHIEF'S LOSS BY FIRE

MRS RYAN FELL WITH A LIGHTED LAMP

The Contents of the Closet in Which Clothes Were Stored, Destroyed

Captain Ryan, of the fire department, and his family, are mourning the loss of all their clothing, except what they chanced to be wearing, last Thursday about 7:30 o'clock, as at that time Mrs. Ryan dropped a lighted lamp in the closet reserved for the clothing.

She was preparing to spend the evening with friends, and was entering the closet with a lamp in her hand, when she tripped and stumbled forward, allowing the lamp to fall to the floor.

The contents of the closet were destroyed and the woodwork was burned in places, but Mrs. Ryan escaped uninjured.

The house is only a block and a half from the fire department building, and the men were soon on the scene.

IN FASHION'S REALM.

This Is the Year of Lace Instead of Grace.

So much lace is seen this season that one may call it the year of lace instead of grace. Scarcely anything is made now without it somewhere, even the most unpromising materials, such as hopsacking and burlap. When actual lace is not added, the fine and ornate castle braids come in, and they have almost as much lightness as lace itself. Lace is put on waists, on sleeves, on skirts and flounces, and whole dresses are made of it, and these are trimmed with still more—that is to say, the dress is made of all over net, and the trimming is added in so many ways that it would be a difficult task to mention one-hundredth of the number. But most often black is added to white and white is set on black. A case in point is shown in the illustration, where the dress is made of black chiffon, which should come under the head of lace, and there are rows of white insertion in even lines above the hem. This skirt is cut quite straight and gathered at the waist. The two rows of white lace around the bottom are but part of the general scheme, for the belt is the same, and the deep flounce to the sleeves is also trimmed with it. These insertion laces are so planned that they can be set on edges by gathering the upper edge and sewing it as though it were a border. Flit lace is quite a new one for this kind of trimming, and it has proved very effective. The Irish and other real laces are quite as popular as they have been, but the very heavy varieties are in less demand, as most of the gowns and other garments are of lighter material, and to look its best the thick lace requires cloth, velvet and other rich material.

An innovation in sleeves is to have the sleeve proper end at or just below the elbow in a puff and a deep flounce left open on the forearm or cut so that the back portion is at least three times longer than the front. Of course this relates only to the regular dress sleeves and not to the separate waists or shirt waists.

The shirt waist, as a whole, is too great a subject for complete discussion, but a few words may be said regarding a few of the newest ideas. The waists differ very little from those of last summer. Whatever difference there is consists more in the arrangement of the plaits and the front fold than anything. The very newest is to have the fold laid at the shoulder just above the arm size, and this goes diagonally to the center of the front at the bottom. This leaves the whole front looking somewhat like a shield bosomed shirt. In many instances these fronts are then left perfectly smooth, but in others there are many fine tucks along the front fold. All waists are pouched quite as much as they ever have been, but the pouching is all brought quite close to the middle in front. This leaves the back and sides trim and neat, with no bagginess. There are no yokes to the shirt waists of whatever kind for this season, and the most of them have no plaits or tucks at the back. The back is finished with a couple of plaits taken in at the bottom only.

Perhaps I should not say that no waists are tucked at the back, for many are, but the tucks reach to the shoulder and do not finish with a yoke. Some of the shield shaped fronts are ridiculous, but others are pretty—for slender persons, but let the stout ones beware of them. It would appear that the object of them is to produce the appearance of width over the shoulders. Some of these shield shapes have bretelles down the back to the belt.

I see but few waists buttoning in the back, while many of those fastening in front have such pretty arrangements of the buttons that they are really ornamental, besides being useful. The taffeta waists are laid in tucks, some both back and front. The tucks are in clusters of small ones, with one large one between. Sometimes this wide one is overlaid with lace or fine fancy braid and ribbon, silk or velvet, run in between the holes.

Black velvet ribbon is still largely used to trim such waists and also fine embroidery. In short, one can have anything almost in the way of a shirt waist, and it will be all right.

DID IT COST THE MAYOR $1000

A prominent citizen reports having a conversation with Mayor Thompson on a D., Y., A. A. & J. car, in which the mayor stated that his campaign expenses were $1,000.

The republicans gave the colored voters a banquet, and Judson promised $100 to the colored churches if Thompson should carry the first ward by 125, but these items and the legitimate expenses hardly account for the $1,000, even if Judson turned over the $100 in spite of the fact that Thompson was defeated in the first.

The mayor's salary is $1 per year. How could Thompson receive an equivalent for the remaining $999 if he had been elected?

Possibly Mayor Thompson will account for the $1,000 as an offset to the valuable time he devoted to the campaign.

CHAPTER VIII. MAKING TROUBLE.

W HILE Elmendorf was speaking Alden returned, bearing a bunch of violets wrapped in such paper as florists use.

"I was gone longer than I had expected," he said. "I did not know just where to find a florist hereabout. They are all covered up, you see. It is an evening that might wither a flower with one breath."

He passed the bouquet somewhat awkwardly across the big table to Brenda, who in the act of receiving it was so startled by the sudden appearance of the ward detective, Barnes, upon the threshold that she let the flowers fall.

With due allowance for its general lack of intelligence, it may be said that the countenance of Barnes was full of meaning. The man looked self-assured, confident and pleased.

"I beg your pardon," said he. "Who is in charge here?"

"I am for the moment," replied Kendall.

Barnes hesitated, looking sidewise at Alden. Then his glance shifted to the bouquet upon the table and rebounded in the direction of the doctor.

"I'd like to have a word with you," he said.

"Speak up," said Kendall. "What is it?"

"Those flowers are for the Miller girl, of course?" said Barnes. "Well, you'd better take a look at 'em before you send 'em in. Oh, they're all right, I guess, but you can't be too careful."

"What do you mean?" demanded Kendall.

Barnes pointed a finger at Alden.

"That man put something into them," he said. "I saw him do it. I don't know what it was, but there's drugs that, if you smell of them, why, it's your finish."

Kendall was too much surprised to speak. Alden took a hasty step toward Barnes and collided with Elmendorf, who courteously begged his pardon. Meanwhile Brenda picked up the bouquet from the table, and as they all turned toward her she opened the paper over the violets and pressed them against her lips.

"They are very fragrant," she said.

"That's all right," returned Barnes doggedly, "but he put something in there. What was it?"

"This bit of paper, I suppose," said Brenda, taking it in her fingers. "Your message, Clarence?"

"I think somebody ought to read it," said Barnes, looking at Elmendorf out of the corner of his eyes.

Alden thrust Elmendorf aside as if he had been a paper dummy and then checked himself. Barnes was already in the hall.

"I can have no quarrel with this creature," said Alden. "As to my message, I appeal to Dr. Kendall."

"This is more than absurd," rejoined the doctor. "Miss MacLane, whenever you are ready."

As Brenda stepped forward the bit of paper slipped out from among the flowers and fell to the floor. Elmendorf picked it up.

"I hope you won't misunderstand me," he said. "Perhaps I see farther ahead than you do. If I was in Mr. Alden's place, I'd let somebody read this."

He gave the message to Brenda, who glanced at Alden as she took it. He raised his hand in a gesture of negation.

"Now, look here, all of you," exclaimed Barnes. "Here's this girl in the"—and he pointed with his thumb in the supposed direction of Elsie's room—"who's hiding what she knows. I don't say it's in this man's interest, but it's in somebody's interest; that's sure. She wouldn't be the first woman that's had the nerve to get the knife and say nothing. I don't accuse anybody, especially not this man, for I ain't got a thing against him. He's all right so far as I know. But what I say is that the girl ought not to be getting messages on the quiet."

Alden's face was white as paper, and his eyes were afire. It is probable that every bone in Barnes' body ached with anticipation, but he had been kicked too often in the way of business to flee before the actual contact.

"I've stood all of this that my system can absorb," said Kendall, with a seriousness that scarcely fitted with the peculiar phrase which had come into his mouth. "After this time novel nonsense of poisoned bouquets I don't care to have anything more from you. Get out!"

"You're making a mistake," said Barnes and then backed out of the room, grinning like a monkey, as Kendall advanced toward the door.

Brenda replaced the note among the flowers and gave her free hand to Alden, bidding him good night.

"I shall not be far away," he said as the woman preceded Kendall out of the room. "There's a lodging house next door. I shall get a place to sleep there. Sleep? Well, at least I shall be there. You should not fail to summon me if—"

"You may depend upon me," said Brenda from the threshold, where she had paused a moment while he spoke.

Kendall went with her to the mouth of the long corridor and then returned to the reception room.

"That man must be insane," he said to Elmendorf. "What did he mean by coming here with such absurdities?"

"He didn't believe in them any more than you do," replied the detective.

"He had no idea that there was anything wrong with the violets or with the note. He was simply obeying orders."

"Orders?" echoed Kendall. "Who could have ordered him to do such a thing?"

"I guess Mr. Alden knows," responded Elmendorf. "And, between ourselves, I think Mr. Alden should have permitted the note to be read right here. I hope Miss Miller won't destroy it."

Kendall looked at Alden as if to inquire whether such a thing was likely, but gleaned no answer. Alden's face had resumed its rigidity, and the expression which it wore was intense, but difficult to read.

"However," continued Elmendorf, "if it hadn't been that it would have been something else. You're going to see a good deal of this sort of thing in the next few days, Mr. Alden."

"A good deal of what?" said Alden.

"It is technically known as 'making trouble' for a man," replied the detective. "I don't know why I should 'put you on,' but I'm doing it just the same."

"Do you mean to tell me," demanded Alden, "that Captain Neale expects to extort an important secret from me by childish tricks of annoyance such as this?"

"Certainly not," answered Elmendorf. "Joe Neale is no such donkey. Why, he's worth a quarter of a million dollars, and it's a wise man who can save as much as that in a few years out of a salary of twenty-five hundred. By simple arithmetic it would take a man just a century to do it if he lived meanwhile on what the neighbors sent in, as they used to say in Massachusetts, where I was

"That man put something into them," brought up. Joe Neale knows that when a man is worried he talks; he must talk to somebody. And the cap would just as soon get your secret out of John Doe as out of you—a little rather, in fact, because then you wouldn't know that he had it. Now, I've said enough to cost me my job."

"Nothing you say to me will ever cost you anything," said Alden. "I'm not a talking man. By the way, who are you?"

"Introduce me," said Elmendorf to Kendall, and the doctor complied.

"I am pleased to meet you," said Alden, offering his hand. "If you find out anything important in this case, I want you to tell me first. I'll make it worth your while."

"No, thank you," said Elmendorf hastily. "As a rule I'm as corrupt as the devil—but not this time."

Meanwhile Brenda had delivered the posies to Elsie—whom pain had wakened from a little sleep—with the gentlest possible words and ways. She had not at all the manner of a nurse, but rather that of an exceedingly tactful and well bred young doctor.

Elsie took the bouquet and very quietly cried over it for some minutes without discovering the note which it contained. She did not say anything; she did not ask a question about what Alden had said or done, whether he had gone away or was still waiting or whether he had seemed much distressed by her misfortune. Brenda had merely said that he had called, and that he had sent the violets because they were Elsie's favorite flower. This seemed to satisfy the girl completely.

Brenda had supposed that she would see the message at the first glance and indeed believed for some little time that she had done so, but did not wish to read it immediately. Finding this an error and fearing that the sudden discovery of it might startle her, Brenda told Elsie that there was a message and pointed out its place.

Then she turned away, as if unwilling to accept the chance of guessing from Elsie's face what the note might contain. When she judged that the proper interval had elapsed, she approached the bed once more.

Elsie's eyes were shut. The tears were drying on her cheeks, that were as delicate as rose leaves, and her right hand was against her breast, tightly closed. Thus she remained until she fell asleep.

How to Give a Little DINNER

THE instructress of the cooking class gazed earnestly at the forty or fifty women before her. "My subject for today," she announced, "is entitled 'How to Give a Little Dinner.'"

"You will notice," the instructress went on, "that I said 'little dinner.' I mean by that the dinner given to a few friends, the dinner a little more pretentious than the family affair, but yet not considered of sufficient importance to be entrusted to a caterer. This is the dinner which is usually a failure."

"In the first place the 'little dinner' usually fails because not enough attention is paid to details and too much to the 'style' of the menu. Better a daintily set table and good service than a pretentious menu ill carried out. Let the dinner consist of a soup, fish, roast, salad, dessert and coffee. Let each dish be one in which the cook is well skilled through long practice; also let the menu be timely. At this season of the year do not serve thick soups and meat with heavy sauces. Have a simple dessert composed of an ice or berries, if they are ripe and nice. They can either be served hulled with whipped cream or daintily arranged with their stems and leaves on, so that they can be eaten dipped in powdered sugar.

"The table linen may not be of the finest, but it must be absolutely fresh from the laundry. The napkins should not be creased in grotesque fashion, but evenly folded and placed as simply as possible to the right of the plate. The center of the table can be made pretty with a high fancy lamp or, better still, a bunch of flowers or a few ferns in a tall glass vase. If the hostess is so fortunate as to possess candelabra, these may be placed one on each side of the ferns. With their dainty colored shades, they give a fairylike effect."

"There are two ways of serving the little dinner. The host or hostess may carve and the maid pass around the plates or the carving may be done in the kitchen and the filled plates may be simply passed around to each guest. When the latter method is observed, the soup plates should be already filled when the guests take their places at the table. The fish and subsequently the meat are also placed before the guests, but the maid passes the vegetable dishes to the left of each guest, and the guest helps himself with a large silver spoon provided for the purpose. Little side dishes for the vegetables should if possible be avoided. One vegetable besides the potatoes is quite enough, but it should be a good vegetable deliciously cooked. The salad should be crisp and cold and should be served on iced plates. After the dessert Camembert, Brie or Roquefort cheese should be served with both hard and soft toasted crackers and tiny cups of black coffee."

"The waitress should move noiselessly and anticipate the wants of the guests as much as possible. The plates for the soup, fish and roast ought to be hot. Under the hot soup plate, however, there is placed a cold dinner plate. The ice water should be free from those jangling bits of ice which make drinking so difficult. The bowls of the spoons are correct when placed upward, the tines of the forks up and the sharp edges of the knives toward the plates."

"Radishes daintily peeled into the semblance of water lilies may occupy a small glass dish, while stuffed olives may fill another."

"When dinner is ready, the fact should not be heralded by a bell or any such device. The servant should appear and simply announce, 'Dinner is served.' And, speaking of the maid, her appearance more than anything else will add to or detract from the success of the dinner. She should be specklessly attired in a plain black gown, with white collar, cuffs and apron. It is this attention to details which makes a dinner a success, no matter how small its cost."

HONEST ABE, U. S. M.

HE HEARS A TALE FROM WIDOW HOBSON OF UNREQUITED LOVE.

After Listening to Her Story He Acts as a Wise Counselor, and Now It is Surmised That the Widow's Troubles Are at an End.

(Copyright, 1902, by C. B. Lewis.)

I WAS having the blacksmith at Harper's Crossroads sharpen up the shoes of my horse the other day when the Widow Hobson, who lives opposite the shop, called me over. I saw that she had something on her mind, and, after drinking a glass of blackberry wine, I asked her what was the matter.

"Look here, Abe!" she replied. "Would you take me for a chit of a girl?"

"Not skassly," I says; "not skassly."

"And would you say I was a fool of a woman?"

"I wouldn't, widder; I wouldn't say that."

"Well, Lem Johnson either takes me for a schoolgirl or a fool, and I'm goin' to let him see how mistaken he is. You know that he'd been courtin' me for a year past, didn't you?"

"Not officially, widder, not as one representing the constitution, the American flag and 80,000,000 of freemen, which I do. I might have heard a word or two as a private citizen, but I'm not much given to gossip. So Lem Johnson has been courtin' you?"

"He has, and he has as good as asked me to marry him. Up to two weeks ago he was here at least three nights a week and all the afternoon Sunday, and he was talkin' love all the time."

"Then something happened, did it?"

"Somethin' did. He got acquainted with the new schoolma'am, and it seems that he fell head over heels in love with her. She's already braggin' around that she's put my nose out of joint."

"Shoo! I didn't believe Lem was a trifter."

"Nor I. When he said I had the most beautiful eyes he had ever seen, I thought he was in earnest. He praised my hair, my teeth, my nose and my chin, and he didn't appear as if he was jokin' about it."

"But did he ever ask you plumb out to marry him?" I says.

"Not plumb out, Abe; not in so many words. He was gettin' around to that, you know. No, he never asked me plumb out, but he talked of the moon and stars and rosebushes and Niagara falls and whippoorwills and all that. Once he held my hand and said he would like to live on a desert island with me all the rest of his life. That was about the same as poppin' the question, wasn't it?"

"Yes, about the same. Did you have any quarrel with him two weeks ago?"

"Not a word, Abe. When he went away, he said that all I needed to be an angel was a pair of wings. Two days later that little freckled faced, stub nosed schoolma'am had him under her thumb."

"And what's going to be done?" I asks.

"I'm goin' to raise a row," she says as her teeth clicked together. "Lem Johnson nor nobody else wants to make a mistake on me. No man on earth can toy with my heart for a year and then throw me over his shoulder. Lem will find that he's got the wrong pig by the ear before he gets through with me."

"What'll you do, widder?"

"That's what I wanted to talk with you about, Abe. How would it be if I sued for breach of promise?"

"Have you got any letters from Lem?"

"No. He can't write very well, you know, and he was here so often that there was no need of letters."

"You've got to have letters to prove your case. He may have talked about the moon and Niagara falls and all that, but no jury would convict. You ought to have had a proposal in black and white, something he couldn't dodge."

"Then I'll meet him and horsewhip him," she declares as she gets up and kicks over a chair.

"He'd outrun you, widder. He'd be over the fence and into the woods before you could touch him."

"The idea of it!" she says as she gives the cat a lift with her foot. "The idea of that little undersized, squint eyed schoolma'am takin' Lem Johnson from me when I expected to be married in the spring! I won't stand it, Abe. I won't allow it, not even if I have to upset the whole United States. You must know some way that I can do somethin'."

"I don't skassly see any way. It's mighty mean of Lem and that schoolma'am, but I don't see how you can touch 'em. The lives of all widders is full of just such disappointments, and they must bear 'em the best they can."

"But there's one who won't bear 'em!" she shouts, with tears in her eyes. "Abe, if you won't help me in this thing I'll shoot somebody! I'll—"

And then she broke down and fell to weeping and sobbing and made it uncomfortable for me. To chirk her up, I had to tell her that as I was going right past Lem Johnson's house I'd stop and have a little chat with him, and she was feeling a little more peart when I left. An hour later, when I drove up to Johnson's farm, I was told that Lem was out at the barn fanning out hayseed. I went out and found him, and after a few words I says:

"Lem, what's the little schoolma'am got against you?"

"Why, nothin' on earth?" he answers.

"Then why is she saying that your feet take up all the road and that you use your ears to cover up your chin in cold weather?"

"By thunder, but is the little mix a-sayin' that?" shouts Lem.

"And that you sit with your hat between your feet and your mouth open?"

"By thunder, but I kinder thought she was makin' game of me behind my back! Say, Abe, I'll chuck her into a snowdrift!"

"And there's the Widder Hobson, Lem," I goes on. "You've been toying with her heart, which is a dangerous thing to do. She may sue for breach of promise."

"She hain't got no letters."

"Or she may use a horsewhip or shotgun."

"D'you think so, Abe?"

"Can't tell. When you toy with a widder's affections, you are fooling with dynamite, and somebody's sure to be blown up. Anyhow, I'm mighty glad I don't stand in your boots."

"What would you do, Abe?" asks Lem as he turns pale and wabbles about.

"I'd make a bee line for the Corners and ask the Widder Hobson to marry me."

"But mebbe she'd pepper me with a shotgun."

"Mebbe she would, but you'd better run the chances. Tell her you've been laid up with a boil on your leg or that you've had to sit up with a sick cow."

"And she—she won't shoot?"

"Not if you speak quick enough. Get a hump on you, Lem."

"I swwow I will!" he says, and when I drove on he was changing clothes and yelling to his father to harness up a horse. I think the widder's troubles are all over by this time and that the little stub nosed schoolma'am is wondering where she is at.

THE SENTINEL-COMMERCIAL

ISSUED ON THURSDAY.

$1.00 Per Year, Strictly in Advance.

tered at the Postoffice in Ypsilanti, Michigan as second class matter.

THURSDAY, APRIL 24, 1902.

POST CHECK CURRENCY.

There are very few people probably who have been required to send small amounts of money through the mails but have thought that the method of doing this provided by congress is clumsy and unsatisfactory. They dislike to go to the postoffice and wait their turn and then fill in the necessary blanks in order to transmit small sums from one place to another. All sorts of means are practiced to avoid this necessity. This shows clearly that the method in vogue is not satisfactory. The disposition to send postage stamps in order to avoid going to the postoffice to buy a postoffice order is so largely practiced that many business concerns have found it necessary to state on their letter heads that stamps will not be received.

It is strange that congress has never made any effort to correct this inconvenience and it is the more unpardonable for the reason that a more convenient way might easily be provided. Bills are now pending in congress calculated to remedy this defect and furnish a convenient currency for the purpose. The currency proposed by the so-called Post Check Currency Bills is very much like the present greenback except that on one side of the bill there are spaces which by filling out makes a check of the bill, payable only to the payee. In this way the ordinary bill becomes a money order payable to person named as payee. He takes it to the postoffice and receives a new bill for the one which has been destroyed as money by being made payable to one particular person only. The scheme contemplates the use of fractional currency also like that used in war times, back in the sixties.

The advantages of this post check currency are that it serves for money and when it becomes necessary to send money through the mail the sender does not have to go to a money order office to do it, nor take the risk of having his money lost, if he tries to send a bill in a letter. With the post check currency he sends his bill just the same but so fixed that it is no good to anyone only the person named as the payee on the back. By this plan the paper money is kept clean by being constantly renewed. Just as soon as a bill is used as a postal check it is spoiled for circulation as money and as soon as it is presented at the postoffice it is withdrawn from circulation and destroyed and a new bill substituted therefor. The requirement that a signature be given by the payee prevents fraud and theft. As no one but the payee, who must be identified, can get the money on the check, there is no temptation to steal the check. If these bills become law, this post check money will displace the present paper money, or at least the United States notes.

Such currency would be of the greatest benefit to farmers and others who are remote from money order offices and would constitute a very important addenda to free rural delivery.

HOUSE OLIGARCHY DEFEATED.

The house republican leaders suffered a severe defeat Friday on the Cuban reciprocity bill. The democrats united with the beet sugar men and introduced into the bill an amendment removing the differential on sugar. The beet sugar republicans wanted the bill killed, but as they found that there was no chance of killing it the next best thing was to attack the differential, which is in the interest of the sugar trust. At a caucus of the minority the democrats had decided to stand together in an effort to remove the differential on refined sugar, which amounts to 12½ cents per 100 pounds. The amendment providing for the reduction was declared out of order, but an appeal from the decision of the chair was carried and the house leaders were overthrown. Later the bill with the amendment incorporated was passed by the decisive vote of 247 to 52.

The bill will now go to the senate, where it remains to be demonstrated whether the democrats did wisely or not in attaching the amendment repealing the differential to the bill. This repeal is democratic in principle, but it is doubtful whether the bill has any chance of passing the senate in its present form. If it cannot pass the senate in its present form, it is likely to be killed for the session and thus the twenty per cent reduction which is likewise democratic, will be lost, in which event the only gain to the democrats will be what is contained in the satisfaction of having been instrumental in throwing down the oligarchy which rules the house. But the loss of the proposed concession to Cuba, as small as it is, for nothing more important than the humiliation of the republican leaders of the house would scarcely seem to be good political policy.

Just now it looks as though the reaction in the republican party in the lower house of congress is of serious import. About forty republicans united with the solid democratic strength of the house and overthrew the republican leaders after one of the most bitter contests of recent years. But this is not all. After the leaders had been overthrown and the amendment removing the differential on sugar had been incorporated in the Cuban reciprocity bill, very many members of the republican house voted to pass the bill carrying this break in the high protected policy. In a party under less rigid discipline, this would be a very serious situation and it may prove to be such to the republicans. There are many who fear it will cost the majority the next house. Certainly the majority party is left in a dangerous situation. If the Cuban reciprocity promised by the republican administration fail, it will leave the majority in a serious plight. If the bill which passed the house is enacted into law, it will make a very serious breach in the republican protection policy. But it is not probable that the beet sugar men will recede from their position should the bill be returned by the senate. It almost looks as though the whole republican policy of protection as it stands today might be opened up as a result of the action of the house in spite of the determination to keep it in the background. This policy only stands because all the powerful influences have been provided for with pork. If the sugar trust is to lose its share, then it is difficult to predict what will follow after that.

It seems that Ypsilanti is to be brought into court on the question of whether the city is obligated to take the property of Mr. Barnes for a site for the Normal science building. The city may be made some expense in the matter, but it is not clear to the layman how the city is to be held. Even though by some hook or crook in the application of the experimental science known as law the city should be found technically liable, how is this liability to be enforced when the payment was to be in bonds which have no warrant in law? The bonds which it was proposed to give for the property are not worth a hurrah in hades, if any taxpayer objects to the levying of a tax to pay them. If the matter is to be contested in the courts, some one is very likely to raise this issue. And if it is raised, worthless bonds will be pretty poor pay for the property.

It is now reported that President Roosevelt has given notice that he greatly desires some sort of a Cuban reciprocity measure before the end of the session and that he will sign any measure of the kind that may be sent to him, even one removing the differential on sugar. This has acted as a red rag before a bull with the sugar trust and it will do all in its power to prevent this threatened cut into its pork. It would mean a loss to the sugar trust probably of some $5,000,000 to $8,000,000. This is ill-gotten gain if ever there was such thing, but the sugar trust will not surrender it, if money and any other influence it can muster can prevent. The issue is a nasty one and the republican faithful are finding it difficult to handle.

The action of the senate in displacing the house Chinese exclusion bill with the Geary law with certain amendments applying its provisions to our new territories seems to be a bit of wisdom. The Geary law has performed its functions so thoroughly and well that the number of Chinese in this country today is said to be not much more than half what it was in 1890. There would seem to be no need, therefore, to pass a more stringent law, thereby unnecessarily annoying China and giving her another example of our disposition to disregard treaty rights. China is familiar with the Geary law and will undoubtedly look upon its re-enactment as a less serious hurt than the much more stringent house bill.

A gentleman's pocketbook containing money was found on the floor of the Senate, 120 Congress street, Ypsilanti. It will be delivered to the person who describes the same.

JAS. H. MCKINSTER, Proprietor.

CANDIDATE GEORGE B. HORTON.

George B. Horton would like to be the republican candidate for governor this fall. He don't want to be the candidate of his party, however, on any boodle platform. In fact, he desires to run on a distinctly anti-boodle platform. Mr. Horton is a man who would in all ways make a good governor. He is a man of good intellectual parts, a man of sterling character, well acquainted with public affairs, known by the people of the state, is popular with the farming community and has been repeatedly placed at the head of the state grange, in fact, he is an all-round good citizen and business man, safe and conservative and of unquestioned probity and honor. Such a man would make a good governor. But as republican campaigns have been run heretofore, in recent years, he lacks a most essential element of the successful seeker after the gubernatorial nomination. He is well circumstanced as to this world's goods, but he has no barrel. Nor is this all that he lacks for a boodle campaign. He has no inclination to make a canvass on such a platform. On the other hand he distinctly says that he will not run on any barrel basis whatever. With this open avowal before-hand, has he any show for the nomination? He is ready to be a candidate if the people uninfluenced by money and bossism want him but not otherwise.

Justus B. Stearns has also announced that he will make no more boodle campaigns. But his record is against him in this matter. Gov. Bliss wants a renomination and will conduct a barrel campaign, if Stearns does. How then which of these men is most likely to give the people a clean and an honest campaign? Do the people want a campaign with the barrel eliminated? If so, so far as the before mentioned three gentlemen are concerned with reference to the republican nomination, there should not be a moment's hesitation as to the candidate with whom they will be most apt to get it.

The Latest Fad For Monograms.

The New York girl still clings to the monogram fad. She has had her monogram embroidered on her shirt waist, worked on the instep of her dainty silken hose and traced in rhinestones and jewels into buckles for slipper, belt and hair barette. And now she has a new monogram fancy, the most novel, the prettiest of all, says the April Woman's Home Companion. It is a lace monogram, and it decorates her parasol. On a white taffeta parasol she will have her monogram applied in black chantilly lace letters; otherwise the parasol will be perfectly plain. The effect is extremely smart. Her monogram in ecru Arabian lace letters she will also use. And if she has many parasols one perhaps will have the monogram in Persian silk embroidery instead of lace. A changeable green and blue silk parasol with no other decoration but the monogram applied upon the silk in letters of Persian embroidery is distinctly novel.

Porto Ricans Honor McKinley.

Governor William H. Hunt of Porto Rico in a letter received by Ryerson Ritchie, national secretary, says that $1,497.42 has been raised in the island for the McKinley memorial in amounts of 10 cents or under. Each contributor will be given a souvenir certificate, and in this manner pictures of McKinley, the White House and the McKinley home at Canton will adorn thousands of homes in Porto Rico.

Welcome the Queen.

The queen stands at the gate,
The queen of the spring,
And seems to hesitate,
To come and bring
Her birds and flowers and bees,
For winter's breath
Yet lingers and may freeze
Her petals to death.
But soon her smile so warm
Will melt the frost,
Her motherly alarm
Be from her tossed;
She'll deck the lawns and trees
With living green,
Breathe balm into the breeze,
The gracious queen;
She'll paint the timid flowers
With heavenly hues
And strew the formal bowers
With gems profuse;
Her hand will tint the skies
A charming blue
And from their unseen eyes
Bring freshening dew
As living tears to fall
Upon the earth
And mystically call
The seeds to birth.
That lazy feeling she
Will give mankind
Till snowed up faces we
All walk behind
Our maidens' cheeks she'll flush
With bloom 'twill take
The cooky from the bush
The chemists make
She'll cause the sighing ones
As birds to mate
And start like Walton's sons
To die for bait
She'll bring us hats of straw
And circus socks
And place within our paw
The beer that bocks
These and a thousand more
Rich blessings she
Will lay beside our door
With hands most free.
Hence, as a mighty throng,
We'll rise and sing
That grand old welcome song,
"Hail, Gentle Spring!"

DR. HALE'S JUBILEE.

Senator Hoar Pays a Glowing Tribute to the Venerable Clergyman.

Senator Hoar made the following address of congratulation at the recent celebration in Boston of the Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale's eightieth birthday, saying in part:

"I suppose if all the people in this country and indeed in all the quarters of the globe who would like to tell their gratitude to Dr. Hale were to come together to do it Boston Common would not hold them. I have never known anybody in all my long life who seemed to me to be joined by the heart-strings with so many men and women wherever he goes as Dr. Hale. Dr. Hale has not been a founder of a sect. He has never been a builder of partition walls. He has helped throw down a good many. But still, without making proclamation, he has been the founder of a school which has enlarged and broadened the church into the congregation and which has brought the whole congregation into the church.

"I do not know another living man who has exercised a more powerful influence on the practical life of his generation. He has taught us the truth, very simple, but which somehow nobody ever got hold of till he did, that virtue and brave living and helping other men can be made to grow by geometrical progression. I am told that Dr. Hale has more correspondents in Asia than the London Times. I cannot tell how many persons are enrolled in the clubs of which he was the founder and inspirer.

"But I am disqualified to do justice to the theme you have assigned to me. For an impartial verdict you must get an impartial jurymen. You will have to find somebody that loves him less than I do. You cannot find anybody that loves him more. To me he has been friend and father and brother and counselor and companion and leader and instructor, prophet of good hope, teacher of good cheer. His figure mingles with my household life and with the life of my country. I can hardly imagine either without him. He has pictured for us the infinite desolation of the man without a country; but when his time shall come what will be the desolation of the country without the man!

"And now what can we give you who have given us so much? We have something to give on our side. We bring you a more costly and precious gift than any jewel or diadem, though it came from an emperor's treasury. 'Love is a present for a mighty king.'

"We bring you the heart's love of Boston, where you were born, and Worcester, where you took the early vows you have kept so well; of Massachusetts, who knows she has no worthier son, and of the great and free country to which you have taught new lessons of patriotism and which you have served in a thousand ways.

"This prophet is honored in his own country. There will be a place found for him somewhere in the house of many mansions. I do not know what will be the employment of our dear friend in the world whose messages he has been bringing to us so long, but I like to think he will be sent on some errands like that of the presence which came to Ben Adhem with a great wakening light, rich and like a lily in bloom, to tell him that the name of him who loved his fellow man led all the names of those whom the love of God had blessed."

In response Dr. Hale said: "Put yourself in my place. I am to do something which I have all along advised young men not to do, and that is to talk about myself. It would seem for a moment as if we must look backward and not forward."

IMPURE BAKING POWDER SEIZED

The New York Board of Health Find it Contains Alum and Rock, Declare it Dangerous to Health, and Dump it into the River.

The New York papers report that the Health Department of that city has seized as dangerous to health nearly two tons of cheap mixtures sold for baking powder and dumped them into the offal scow to be destroyed. More of the powder was found in a Sixth avenue department store. The report of the analysis of the Health Department stated that it was "an alum baking powder" containing alum and pulverized rock.

The different Health Authorities seem to have different ways of repressing the sale of bad baking powders. In England they have prosecuted the grocers under the general law and broken up the traffic. In Missouri the sale of alum baking powder is actually prohibited by law. In New York they seize the unwholesome stuff and cast it into the river, without any discussion. The latter way is certainly effective.

The alum baking powders are usually offered at a low price, ten to twenty cents a pound, or with some prize, as a temptation to the housewife.

Consumers can protect themselves by buying only high-grade baking powder of established name and reputation. Do not be tempted by the grocer to take something else as "just as good" or "our own brand," for the trials show that the grocer himself is often deceived by unscrupulous makers and is selling an alum powder without knowing it.

There are several good powders on the market; let the housekeeper insist on having what she knows is right, and not be induced to risk the life of the family for an imaginary saving of a few cents.

SUFFERED THREE YEARS. CATARRH OF STOMACH.

Miss Evelyn Morse writes from 651 Adams Street, Minneapolis, Minn., as follows:

"I suffered for nearly three years with catarrh of the stomach which no medicine seemed to relieve, until a friend advised me to try Peruna. Although skeptical, I tried it, and found it helped me within the first week. I kept taking it for three months, and am pleased to say that it cured me entirely, and I have had no symptoms of its return. I am only too glad to recommend it."

Adia Brittain, of Sekitan, O., writes: "After using your wonderful Peruna three months, I have had great relief. I had continual heaviness in my stomach, was bilious, and had fainting spells, but they all have left me since using Peruna. I can now get around and do my housework, and think Peruna the greatest medicine I ever used."—Adia Brittain.
Mrs. Lizzie Blevins, 102 Boliver street, Cleveland, Ohio, writes: "I candidly feel Peruna was the means of saving my life, for I suffered for months from catarrh of the stomach. Two bottles of Peruna cured me."—Mrs. Lizzie Blevins.
If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.
Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

The remains of Mrs. W. H. Fargo were brought here from Jackson Thursday afternoon and after short services at the home of Henry Gilbert were interred in the family lot at Oak Grove cemetery. The early part of her life was spent at this place, but after her marriage with Mr. Fargo she resided at Jackson, where she died at the age of 67 years. A husband and one son survive her.

Mrs. Wm. Kirchgessner is visiting at Wm. Rehfuess' in Ann Arbor.

A Woman's Back

The Aches and Pains Will Disappear if the Advice of This Ypsilanti Citizen is Followed.

A woman's back has many aches and pains.

Most times 'tis the kidneys' fault. Backache is really kidney ache; That's why Doan's Kidney Pills cure it.

Many Ypsilanti women know this. Read what one has to say about it:

Mrs. H. W. Stevens, of 106 South Grove St., says: "My back troubled me for a long time and the aching was often severe. I doctored and tried different remedies, but none seemed to do me any good. I had so often seen and heard Doan's Kidney Pills recommended so highly that I made up my mind to test their virtues and got a box. I will cheerfully say this for them: I received more permanent relief from their use than from any other medicine I ever tried."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name, DOAN'S, and take no substitute.

An illustrated magazine of travel and education, twelve numbers, will be sent you if you pay the postage. It will keep you abreast of the times. Send postal for sample copy, and if you like it, send me twenty-five cents for a year's subscription.

The Degree of Honor ladies held a reception Saturday evening in honor of Grand Chief of Honor Mrs. Nellie Hewitt, of Maple Rapids. Elaborate refreshments were served to ladies and their guests.
The "at home" this evening from 8 to 10 at the Y. W. C. A. rooms, 125 Congress street, will be for gentlemen as well as ladies. The committee is planning a pleasant time. Come and bring a friend.
The Cleary Business college defeated the Ann Arbor high school, for the second time, in a return game at Ann Arbor Saturday afternoon, the score being 22 to 13. The Cleary college battery was Conline and Ormund.
Miss Mary McKay, of Cleveland, a former resident of this city, is the guest of her sister for a short time. Miss McKay expects to enter one of the city hospitals of Cleveland soon to learn to become a trained nurse.
The fifth grade of the training school defeated the sixth grade at base ball Saturday by 20 to 18, in an exciting game. The batteries were Platt and Samson for the fifth and Payne and Cleary for the sixth grade.
Mrs. Fred Shaeffer entertained the Friday whist club last week, and the top scores were won by Mrs. F. Shaeffer and Miss Sadie Harding, east and west, and Mrs. P. W. Carpenter and Mrs. J. Herriek, north and south.
At the meeting of St. Luke's Choir Chapter, held Thursday afternoon, the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Gardam; vice president, Mrs. John VanFossen; secretary, Miss Laura E. Smith; treasurer, Miss Jennie Lamb.
The council has approved the bonds of the following liquor dealers: George Warner, George Ament, Herman Meyer, Matthew Max, Adam Schaner, N. B. Yates, Wm. Lewis, L. Z. Foerster, Occidental hotel, Joseph Meyers, J. W. Clark.
A fight occurred on the east side Saturday night between four colored men and a party of whites. The colored men attacked a single white man, but friends came to his assistance and the negroes were driven off. One of the whites had a hoe, which he used with terrible effect.
Henry Dorenbecker returned Sunday from Canada where he was called to identify one of the three men with whom he was playing cards the night he was robbed of $90. The police have track of the other two, and expect to apprehend them this week. Dorenbecker has not recovered the $90.

Now that Mrs. Charles Youngs, of Ypsilanti, has secured a divorce from the husband who some months ago obtained a perpetual injunction against Foster Kilpatrick, forbidding him to speak to her, the question arises, is the perpetual injunction still perpetual?—Detroit Tribune.

Among the prominent Normal seniors who have positions for the coming year are: J. J. Roode, who will be superintendent at Bad Axe; Frank Weston who has accepted the principalship of the Perry high school; H. E. Slocum, who will be principal at Vernon, and J. S. Craig, who has accepted a position in the West Saginaw high school.

The state convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, of the Episcopal church, will be held in this city Saturday and Sunday at St. Luke's church. There will be an afternoon and an evening session Saturday, and special services Sunday morning, afternoon and evening. The delegates will probably number about 100.

United States Circuit Court Commissioner John Graves, a former Ypsilanti resident, died at Detroit last Monday night, at the age of 72. He was born a short distance from Ypsilanti and was well known in the city, where he leaves two brothers, F. A. and A. R. Graves. The funeral will be held in this city this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Stoup, of Washington street, were delightfully surprised by about 50 of their friends last Monday evening, the occasion being their thirtieth anniversary. Mr. Joslin, in behalf of the assembled friends, presented Mr. and Mrs. Stoup with an elegant set of dishes. Cards were played and the friends had prepared refreshments which were served.

Word has come of the marriage of Lorena Oldfield, a former Normal co-ed, who is now teaching in the Philippines, to G. W. Salmon, a wealthy American. Miss Oldfield graduated last June and in September sailed for the Philippines, on her arrival being assigned to a school in Iloilo, a city of 20,000, situated on the island of Panay. Here she met Mr. Salmon, to whom she was married in February.

Mrs. Belle M. Perry, president of the State Federation of Women's clubs, has appointed Mrs. Lydia DeCamp Goodrich an alternate to the National Federation which convenes in Los Angeles in May. Mrs. Goodrich is a member of the Study club of this city and goes as an appointee from said club and the honor is much appreciated by the club members. Mrs. Robt. Brabb, of the same club, will also attend.

Only eleven members of Co. G, 31st U. S. V., appeared for the meeting Tuesday evening, so an adjournment was taken to Sunday morning. Co. G's membership was over 100, but it is considered doubtful if half of that number are now living in this city or vicinity. The business to come before the meeting is to arrange for attending the coming reunion of the 31st at Jackson.

The principal lay speaker at the coming Brotherhood convention in St. Luke's, will be Mr. Herbert Carleton, of Pittsburg. Mr. Carleton is an honor man of Trinity College, Toronto, also an honor man of Oxford University, England, has spent two years in the east end of London under the present bishop of London when he was bishop of Stepney, and is one of the most direct and effective speakers in the church. The program of this meeting will be given in next issue.

The annual concert of the Ypsilanti High School choir will be given Friday evening, April 25, in High School hall, under the direction of Prof. Arthur Bostick. The choir will render the cantata "The Daughter of Jairus," and will be assisted by eminent soloists and the Conservatory String orchestra, led by Miss Abba Owen. The cantata will be followed by a short miscellaneous musical program. Admission 20 cents, which will include a reserved seat. Coupon tickets will be on sale at Rogers' and by the members of the senior class.

The following students of the Normal have secured positions: Miss Edith Adams, as supervisor of kindergarten work at Pontiac; John Craig, high school position at West Saginaw; Miss Vera Hayden, third and fourth grade at Marcellus; Annie Johnson, at Marshall, sixth grade; Annie Ross at Dowagiac, first grade; Helen Doty, English and history at Three Rivers; Nellie Treadgold, seventh grade at Albion; Ida Ray, at Delray, second grade; Gertrude Himebaugh, at St. Johns, fourth grade; Louise Petit, history and English at Benton Harbor.

THEY BLAME THE UMPIRE
Normals Lose in Ball Game With Kalamazoo
NORMAL'S GOOD FIELDING
Dennis Made a Phenomenal Catch—The Game was Attended by Five Hundred Students

The Normals lost their first intercollegiate baseball game of the season to Kalamazoo Saturday afternoon, by 6 to 5, but the sting of defeat is in a great measure removed by the fact that the contest was an intensely exciting 11-inning affair and that the pedagogues did brilliant work. The team are disposed to blame the umpire for the result, as with two men out in the ninth inning and the score 5 to 4 in favor of the Normal, the umpire pronounced a Kalamazoo runner safe, although the Normalites say that he was out by a margin of three feet.

The umpire is the sheriff of Calhoun county and a personal friend of many of the Kalamazoo players, and the pedagogues incline to the belief that the allowed his sympathies to influence his judgment when it came to the critical point.

Hyames occupied the box, and he pitched a good game, although having somewhat the worst of the battle with the Kazoo twirler, as the latter struck out 13 men and gave 8 hits, while Hyames fanned 3 and allowed 18 hits.

Saturday's contest was attended by 500 students and citizens, and was intensely exciting. Each side scored a tally in the first inning, but goose eggs were down all around until the seventh, when the pedagogues ran up four. Kazoo scored three in the eighth, and with two men out and after the umpire's decision had saved a third man, they tied the score by one more run. The Baptists scored the winning run in the eleventh with two men out and the bases full, on Waldron's wild throw to the plate.

CLEARYS WON FROM HIGH SCHOOL
In a rather poorly played game the high school team lost its first home game last Saturday afternoon to the Cleary Business College nine.

The Ann Arbor team was badly handicapped by the absence of Sprague, the crack first baseman, and by the accident to Pitcher Rossingerberger's hand last week during practice. George was put in the box in the fourth inning and held the visitors to 4 runs, until the ninth inning, when they found his curves for seven runs.

NEWSPAPER MAN TO TAKE A BRIDE
Invitations are out for the marriage of Howard E. Pratt, a former well known Ypsilanti young man, now city editor of the Marshall Statesman, and Miss Mabel Woolsey, of Marshall, to occur Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. Pratt is an Ypsilanti high school graduate and the son of Dr. O. E. Pratt, who recently removed from this city to Mason.

The bride has been deputy county clerk of Calhoun county for the past three years.

UPSET A BUGGY AT MANCHESTER

Manchester, Mich., April 21.—Miss Esther O'Neil went to Adrian Saturday afternoon to visit her parents a few days.

Miss Blanche Coulson, of Brooklyn, was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. J. A. Goodyear, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Barbara Holmes spent Sunday in Iron Creek.

W. H. Lehr and Wm. Sloat were in Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti Friday on business.

Jonathan Holmes is ill with the mumps.

Miss Pearl and Hazel Cole, of Clinton, are visiting at Homer Fish's.

Mrs. A. M. Klebler, who has been ill for several weeks, is able to be out again.

Miss Marie Kirchhofer gave a reception to the faculty of the high school and members of the senior class Friday evening, and they were delightfully entertained. A guessing contest pertaining to literature and art was one of the features of amusement. An elaborate spread was partaken of during the evening.

Mervin Green, of Ypsilanti, came here Saturday to spend a week or so at Wm. Burtless'.

Misses Ida Uhr and Emma Layher, of Jackson, spent Sunday in town.

Ada and May Collum, of Clinton, visited at John Jackson's over Sunday.

Dr. W. A. Klopfenstein went to Chicago Saturday night and will attend the graduation and alumni banquet of the Chicago Homeopathic Medical college to be held next Tuesday.

Saturday afternoon as Miss Underhill, who was driving Isaac Hall's horse, started for home, one line became entangled in the front wheel of the buggy and the horse began to back. He continued to back and turn until the buggy was a complete wreck. Miss Underhill was pinned between the top and seat with the rest of the debris piled on top of her. Bystanders quickly came to her assistance and after cutting the lines succeeded in getting the horse loosened from the wreckage. Miss Underhill, who is quite an elderly lady, escaped with practically no injuries, which was almost a miracle. The horse was badly frightened, but the crowd of men kept him from running. He was quite badly cut about the hips.

MOST PICTURESQUE ISLAND

Insular Department Supplies Information About the Isle of Pines.

The division of insular affairs has prepared a publication about the Isle of Pines which is of pertinent interest, as the new government of Cuba will be shortly inaugurated, with which will be taken up, among other questions, the determination of the status of the Isle of Pines.

The island is 986 square miles in area, or very nearly the size of the state of Rhode Island, and has a population of 3,199. In its physical features it is very picturesque. In general the surface is a plateau of 50 to 100 feet above the sea level, broken by ridges, the most remarkable summits being the Sierra de la Canada, 1,600 feet, and Dagulla, 1,500 feet, from which may be had a view of the entire island. The southern part, comprising about one-third of the entire area, is an impassable cienaga, or salt bayou and lagoon, interspersed by islets and rocky ledges and occupied by fishermen. The island has a number of rivers of excellent water, the most important of which is the Nuevas, five to ten feet deep and navigable four or five miles.

The Isle of Pines is connected with a labyrinth of reefs and islets, of which the best known are the Jardines, so named from verdure clad islets strewn like "gardens" amid blue waters and from which fresh water bubbles up from the deep, flowing probably in subterranean galleries from the mainland. The mineral springs, for which the island has a worldwide reputation, are remarkable especially in pulmonary, rheumatic and throat affections.

The climate is described as "delicious, the air being pure and balmy and dry." The wet season, or summer, extends from June until October. The hottest hours are from 10 a. m. to 12 m. About 2:30 p. m. the breeze from the sea moderates the temperature. The dry season, or winter, extends from October to June. The annual rainfall is less than on the gulf coast. The average of rainy days is ten in the month, and the average humidity 75 per cent.

The mean annual temperature is 75 degrees. The prevailing winds are the northeast trades, which blow with but little variation throughout the year, rendering the nights cool both in winter and summer. The range in temperature between summer and winter rarely exceeds a mean of 11 degrees.

The island has two towns and one port. Nueva Gerona, the capital, is in the north, population 1,000. Santa Fe, with a population of 1,050, is in the center of the island. Jucaro the port of Santa Fe, is seven miles away. It addition to these three centers are twenty-six villages and haciendas scattered throughout the island.

Omega Oil

How It Looks

It is important that you should know how Omega Oil looks, so we print a picture of it here. The printing on the package is all in green ink. The trade mark is a leaf, with the words, "Omega Oil. It's Green." Down near the bottom is the signature—Higinio Espinosa. Look for this name, because it is a guarantee that you are getting the genuine Omega Oil, that has cured so many cases of Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Cold in the Chest, Neuralgia, Stiff Joints, Sprains, Weak Backs, Strains and Bruises. There are a lot of other liniments that may be bought in drug stores, and a few of them are pretty good, too, but you of course want the safest and surest remedy, so you buy nothing but Omega Oil when you have a pain or ache in flesh, muscles or joints. Never mind where the pain is, for the Oil cures in one part of the body just as well as in another. 50c. a bottle.

BLOOD-DISEASED MEN

If you ever contracted any blood disease you are never safe unless the virus or poison has been eradicated from the system. Have you any of the following symptoms? Sore throat, ulcers on the tongue or in the mouth, hair falling out, aching pains, itching of the skin, sores or blotches on the body eyes red and smart, dyspeptic stomach, sexual weakness—indications of the secondary stage. Don't ruin your system with the old fogey treatment—mercury and potash—which only suppresses the symptoms for a time only to break out again when happy in domestic life. Don't let quacks experiment on you. Our New Method Treatment is guaranteed to cure you. Our guarantees are backed by bank bonds, that the disease will never return. Thousands of patients have been already cured by our New Method Treatment for over 20 years. No names used without written consent.

Mr. E. A. C. writes: "Your remedies have done me more good than Hot Springs and all the doctors and medicines I had previously tried. I have not felt any of those pains or seen any of the loathsome disease have entirely disappeared. My hair has grown in fully again and I am married and happy."

Schley & Santiago
BY GEORGE EDWARD GRAHAM.

The intrepid Associated Press war correspondent, who was aboard the U. S. S. Brooklyn during the entire five months of the campaign. Illustrated with photographs taken by the Author during the fight.

The Most Sensational Book of the Day.

The true story of the famous cruise of the Flying Squadron under Commodore Winfield Scott Schley, including the blockade and destruction of the Spanish fleet, TOLD FOR THE FIRST TIME.

Contains an autograph endorsement and personal account of the battle by Rear-Admiral Schley.

"The facts of the story of the movements and operations of the Flying Squadron as the author tells them in this book are correct."
—W. S. SCHLEY.

An interesting narrative of facts. Explains the so-called "Retrograde Movement," the "Loophole," the "Cooling Problem," and settles conclusively every adverse ruling of the Court of Inquiry.

President Roosevelt, when Governor of New York, said:—"Mr. Graham's story is the best account I have heard or read of the naval fighting during the war. It needed just as much courage to go about taking photographs as it did to work the guns."

No subject has ever before the public that has interested everybody as the manner in which Admiral Schley has been treated, and the American people demand the full recognition of the hero of Santiago. This book tells everything just as it occurred and as the eyewitnesses saw it. Book is selling like wildfire. Liberal commissions. Outfit and books now ready. Those who by the use of palliative powders and tablets escape for a time from the sufferings of dyspepsia are in the same condition as the escaped prisoner. Soon or late they will go back to the old condition and pay an added penalty for temporary release.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. Its cures are lasting.

"For about two years I suffered from a very obstinate case of dyspepsia," writes E. E. Secord, Esq., of 13 Eastern Ave., Toronto, Ontario. "I tried a great number of remedies without success. I finally lost faith in them all. I was so far gone that I could not bear any solid food on my stomach for a long time; felt melancholy and depressed. Could not sleep or follow my occupation (smithing). Some four months ago a friend recommended your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' After a week's treatment I had derived so much benefit that I continued the medicine. I have taken three bottles and am convinced it has in my case accomplished a permanent cure. I can conscientiously recommend it to the thousands of dyspeptics throughout the land."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

RUSSIA'S NEW SEAPORT

Dalny, on the Gulf of Pechili,
Open to Commerce.

NO CUSTOMS DUTIES CHARGED.

One of the Pacific's Finest Deep Water Harbors, Where Ships of Thirty Feet Draft Can Enter at Low Tide Without Any Difficulty—Five Large Piers Building.

In an elaborately illustrated report to the state department at Washington dated Sept. 29, 1901, and delayed in transmission Consul Henry B. Miller of Newchwang describes the progress made by the Russian government in establishing its new Manchurian seaport, Dalny, on the gulf of Pechili. Mr. Miller says that Dalny is the Pacific coast terminus of the Chinese Eastern railway and its connections, the Central Manchurian and the Great Siberian railway, and is the commercial seaport of Russia, created and constructed in accordance with an edict of the emperor of Russia, dated July 10, 1899. In this edict the czar defined as follows the conditions on which the new port was to be open to foreign trade:

First.—The right to import and export merchandise of every description, free of customs duties, is established in the city, in the port and in the adjacent territory up to a fixed boundary line, which may be changed by the minister of finance.

Second.—The right of free trade thus established shall not affect the tolls for carriage or for anchorage or such other taxes of various kinds which usually obtain in seaports.

Third.—Quarantine regulations for the exclusion of contagious diseases shall be applied in full force to ships entering the port.

Fourth.—Merchandise imported into Russia and coming from the territory to which the right of free trade is thus extended shall be examined and shall pay such duties upon entering the limits of the empire as are provided for by the general laws which govern the importation of foreign goods.

Dalny itself is one of the finest deep water harbors of the Pacific, as it is free from ice, and ships drawing thirty feet can enter it at low tide without any difficulty and even without the aid of a pilot, sail or steam up alongside of piers, well protected by breakwaters, where cargoes can be loaded into cars that run direct for 6,000 miles or more to St. Petersburg. The surface of the bay comprises many miles, and the deep water area is sufficient to handle the shipping of all China. The rise and fall of the tide does not exceed twelve feet. Five large piers are being constructed of blocks of stone and cement, weighing from twenty to fifty tons. These piers will vary in width from sixty to several hundred feet and in length from a quarter of a mile to a half mile, and each will be supplied with numerous railroad tracks and warehouses and elevators, gas, electric lights and water. One of these piers was completed in July, 1901, and another will be ready for use by the end of this year. There are abundance of room in the harbor and sufficient depth of water to provide for any number of piers desired. A breakwater is being constructed across the pier harbors, so that ships can load and unload regardless of weather. Docks for foreign vessels, steam and sail, will extend between these piers and along the shore for two miles. Docks, piers and anchorage for the Chinese native craft will be in another portion of the bay, opposite the native city, convenient to the railroad line.

The construction of docks is proceeding well, and two large dredgers built in Glasgow and laid down at Dalny at a cost of $188,900 each are doing splendid service in deepening and filling the harbor. Two first class drydocks are also being constructed. One is intended for ordinary ocean steamers and the other is designed to accommodate the largest vessels of commerce or war that float the oceans of the world. The first of these drydocks is in course of active construction, as 1,700 men are daily working for its completion. It is difficult to conceive of a port where the economy of handling cargo will excel that of the harbor of Dalny when it is completed. From the design and execution so far as completed, founded on the splendid features nature presents at this place, it will be practically a perfect harbor.

The port is to be absolutely free, as no custom house is to be established. Even the moderate rates of Chinese customs will not be charged on goods landing or to be exported from Dalny.

Tonnage dues, dock charges and wharfage and warehouse charges will all be maintained at the lowest point, with the view to encourage and develop commerce. All these features will be modeled on the methods of Japan. The low priced cooly service, the small labor required to move goods from the great ocean vessels to the cars, the ease of entrance into the harbor at all seasons of the year and the announced policy of low charges will combine to make this the most economical shipping port of the orient, and the enormous trade which a wise and honest policy of railroad administration is sure to develop will create at Dalny one of the greatest commercial points on the Pacific.

The city, according to the plan that is being followed in construction, is to consist first of the administration portion, in which will be railroad shops for making cars, etc.; repair shops, steamship construction and repair shops, port, steamship and railway headquarters and offices, homes of mechanics and general employees, together with parks, hotels, churches, schools, clubs and places for amusements. This portion of the city is being completed at the present time and contains a great area of well constructed streets and substantial brick buildings.

Immediately back of this administration city, which is built on a small peninsula, are the godown, war-house, large long and general wholesale section. This portion extends to the docks and piers and, together with the administration and Chinese section, covers the entire water front. Joining this is the retail and general mercantile section, and farther off toward the hills and on gradually sloping higher ground that commands a beautiful view of the bay lies the foreign residence section.

The Chinese section faces on the bay and is distinctly separate, with docks and junk shipping adjoining. Electric lights are already in operation, and a complete system of electric tramways is in course of construction. About three miles from the foreign settlement to the southeast is an excellent seaport that is to be arranged for a summer resort. Already an excellent highway is being made to connect it with the town.

There are 23,000 men daily at work in the construction of the port and town, and the total population is about 50,000, mostly Chinese, Japanese, Koreans and Russians. Already something more than $6,180,000 is said to have been expended in purchasing the plant and constructing the harbor and city, and it is said that it is the intention to expend $11,845,000 more in completing it, a total cost of $18,025,000. It is intended that the city shall be free to people of all nations. Land is to be sold at auction to the highest bidders as soon as lots are graded and streets, etc., completed. The sales are expected to begin about April 1, 1902. Many people have already erected buildings under an arrangement to have the first right to purchase or to have all their improvements paid for by other purchasers.

The city is to be managed by a council to be elected by the ratepayers. Two members of the council must be Russian subjects, and not more than two Chinese or two Japanese can be elected to the council at the same time.

The Chinese Eastern railway, which terminates at Dalny, is completed north to Harbin, where it connects with the Central Manchurian railroad. This road is completed east to Vladivostok and west to Kaidalovo, where it connects with the great Siberian railroad, which has heretofore carried its traffic to the head of navigation on the Amur, thence down this stream to Harbin and south by railroad to Vladivostok. On Nov. 1, 1901, the Central Manchurian and the Chinese Eastern railways are to be open for traffic, and cars will then be able to pass direct from Dalny to St. Petersburg, and train service will be continuous. Lake Baikal being crossed by steamers carrying the trains. As soon as the entire line is completed it is intended to run fast trains with excellent car service every three or four days. While through rates are not yet established, the chief engineer at Dalny says that the charge from Dalny to St. Petersburg will not exceed $77.25.

TO NORTH POLE IN AIRSHIP

Investor McDonnell to Be Accompanied by Sergeant J. R. Frederick.

In July, 1902, two men, with their assistants, will start for the north pole, says a dispatch from Indianapolis to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. They will go as Major Andree, the ill fated Norwegian aeronaut, went, in a balloon. But the balloon that will convey these adventurers will be built on an entirely different principle. It will in substance be an airship and has already been completed save for a few details.

The man who designed the ship and planned the trip and who will command the expedition is Patrick Eneas McDonnell of Chicago, and his assistant will be Sergeant Julius B. Frederick, hero of the unfortunate Greeley polar expedition, which eighteen years ago came to such disastrous end on the wind swept pinnacle of Cape Sabine. Sergeant Frederick is now a resident of Indianapolis. It was the narrative of his adventures and particularly the assertion made by Frederick that the far north is a country of strange surprises and negative conditions, that the region within the immediate vicinity of the pole is covered with vegetation and doubtless inhabited, that brought McDonnell and the Greeley man together.

McDonnell describes the airship as being 450 feet long and 55 feet in diameter, composed of a tubular bridge framework, having metal cones at each end, the whole enveloped in a gastight incasement sufficiently rigid to resist the pressure of the air at a speed of 100 miles an hour. It will be propelled by means of motors and will carry a hydrogen gas producer to replenish its buoyancy power as it is exhausted.

A Joyous Lay.

Get your cookbooks out and look up
Your recipes for omelets
And the other things you shodk up
To make custards and croquettes.
In the long abandoned batter
Let the patent beater spin;
The expense now doesn't matter,
For the eggs are coming in.

You may eat without misgiving
Poached or scrambled, boiled or fried,
Eggs that late for common living
Were a luxury denied
Unless you had wealth unbounded,
Otherwise it was a sin,
But the rumor's quite well founded
That the eggs are coming in.

Where the sweet magnolia blossom
Sheds its perfume on the air
And the cornucopia and the possum
Are esteemed beyond compare
There's a cackling and a crowing,
And the farmers wear a grin,
Which we duplicate, well knowing
That the eggs are coming in.

For a dozen we were paying
Thirty cents or even more,
But the hens at last are laying
As they laid in days of yore,
And for Easter celebration
We may all of us begin
To make active preparation
Since the eggs are coming in.

FEMININE CHAT.

Mrs. Edward Gilchrist Low has opened at Groton, Mass., a college of horticulture for women.

The Southern Homeopathic association, which met in Atlanta recently, elected as its president a woman, Dr. Susan M. Hicks.

Miss Norah Bryant McCue of Madison, Wis., has been elected president of the senior class of the state university. She is the first woman to be so honored in the entire history of the university.

Miss Mary Stewart of Gobshealach, Ardnamurchan, has just died at the age of 100 years. She managed to live in the reigns of George III., George IV., William IV., Victoria and Edward VII. without learning the English language, for she spoke only Gaelic.

Mrs. Chauncey M. Depew calls every afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Grand Central station for her husband when he is in New York. She drives up to the directors' entrance of the station and enters. In half an hour the door is opened by Senator Depew, who escorts his wife to the carriage door, and they both drive away.

Friends who have recently visited Mrs. McKinley at Canton say that she is in good health—better, in fact, than she has been in many years past. She is strong enough to sign all her checks, writes autograph letters and transacts a considerable amount of business. Formerly she was unable to attend to any of these matters.

Mrs. Isabella Beecher Hooker, the last surviving child of the Rev. Dr. Lyman Beecher, has just celebrated her eightieth birthday at her home in Hartford, Conn. Mrs. Hooker is the widow of John Hooker, the sixth in descent from the Rev. Thomas Hooker, who was the founder of the state of Connecticut and inspired its first constitution.

BETWEEN HEATS.

H. R. Higbee will again handle C. F. W. 2:09 1/4, next season.

The Charter Oak ten thousand dollar stake will be for 2:11 or 2:12 class trotters.

Columbus will hang up five thousand dollar purses for 2:24 trotting and 2:23 pacing classes.

George H. Ketcham has announced that if all goes well Cresceus, 2:02 1/4, will make an effort to beat his record at Memphis next October.

The Bingen, 2:06 1/4—Josie J., 2:21 1/4, yearling in the stable of George Garth, the Alabama trainer, is pronounced by competent judges as a trotting wonder.

Light harness horses will fare very well at the Boston horse show, the prize list containing ten classes for trotters, with prizes aggregating more than $1,200.

It is currently reported from New York that David Lamar will campaign a string of harness horses and that he is negotiating for the purchase of The Abbot, 2:03 1/4.

Palo Alto farm has sold the two-year-old colt Laurelain, by Dexter Prince, dam Laura C., 2:29 1/4, dam of Laurel, 2:14 1/4, by Electoneer. The colt will go to Nicaragua.

PULPIT AND PEW.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph D. Newlin, rector of the Episcopal Church of the Incarnation, Philadelphia, for forty-two years, has resigned on account of advanced age.

Rev. J. Harris Knowles, senior curate of St. Chrysostom's, a chapel of Trinity, New York city, organized the first surplined choir of boys in Chicago and personally trained them.

Dr. Edward Everett Hale of Boston, who will celebrate his eightieth birthday on April 3, persists in refusing to be called a clergyman. He wishes to be designated only as a "Christian minister."

The drapery on President McKinley's pew in the First Methodist church of Canton, O., was removed the other day. Although all pews in the church are free, the McKinley pew has not been occupied by any one since the funeral. It is to be permanently marked by a plate.

EDUCATORS.

Alexander H. Rice has been appointed to take charge of the Latin department of the College of Liberal Arts, Boston. He is at present in Rome, where he has been studying during the past year at the American School for Classical Studies.

Professor Basil Lanneau Gildersleeve of Johns Hopkins university has had presented to him by former pupils a volume of original work done by them during his professorship at the University of Virginia and at the Johns Hopkins. It is a neat book of 571 pages.

William A. Gardner, whose gifts are scattered all about the grounds of the Groton school, is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Jack Gardner of Boston. He spends all his time at the school, where he regards himself as a simple instructor, yet his income is rated something like $3,000 a day.

LAW POINTS.

Fifteen thousand dollars is not excessive damages for negligently causing the death of a healthy workingman thirty-six years old, holds the New York supreme court, appellate division.

An insolvent debtor's giving an unreasonable amount to secure a preferred creditor is in itself a badge of fraud where the preferred creditor is aware of the insolvency of the debtor. (84 Mo. App. Rep. 275.)

Where parties to a contract, by express language to that effect, make the lapse of time of the essence of the obligation assumed, they are bound by the expressions contained in the contract. (81 Mo. App. Rep. 342.)

Dreamworld Poncelacy is the name given to the first foal of the season among Thomas W. Lawson's brood mares. The late arrival is a sister to Prelatess, 2:15 1/4, and the ten thousand dollar yearling Miss Previous.

INTERNATIONAL ICE STATUE

Interesting Features of One Erected on the Alaskan Border Line.

About twenty people wintered this year on the summit of White pass, Alaska. As time passed slowly the small community of American and British residents undertook a number of community enterprises. Chief among them was the erection on the international boundary of a heroic statue of ice and snow, says a dispatch from Tacoma, Wash., to the San Francisco Chronicle. The statue rises twenty-four feet and is described by outcoming Klondikers as the joint production of everybody in the community.

The most interesting feature of its building is the fact that the loyal Americans fashioned that side facing southward to represent Miss Columbia. Not to be outdone, the Britons converted the side facing northward into a fairly good likeness of John Bull. As the statue was built up the snow was sprinkled with water, thus forming an ice creation which will stand guard on the international boundary until the warm winds of August melt it away. Should the summer be cool the statue will remain in position, as snow frequently covers the summit the year round.

KIDNEY DISEASE.

Its Insidious Progress and Sudden Termination.

Not long ago a man who had made a success in business bought a country place and retired from active commercial life. By all outward appearances he was a healthy man. He entered upon the life of his country home with great zest, engaging himself in the culture and care of flowers and enjoying the pleasures of out door life to the full. One day they found him unconscious on the lawn. The family believed he must have been the victim of tramps. The doctor came but could not rouse him from his stupor. When the autopsy was made it showed that death was the result of kidney disease long neglected.

This is a true story. The facts are given as the newspapers told them. Only the names are suppressed. 'It is a story that in one way or another is being repeated every day, the victims being men and women who suffer from "kidney trouble" and neglect it.

SLOW POISONING.

It is the office of kidneys to filter the blood and remove from it those foreign matters which if retained in the blood corrupt and poison it. The principles so eliminated by the kidneys are constantly being produced in the tissues of the body. The kidneys are therefore ceaselessly active and care for an enormous quantity of blood. When by reason of disease the activity of the kidneys is impaired, or when they are overtaxed by being required to eliminate from the blood an undue quantity of corrupting substances, thrown into the blood as a result of disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition; then it is that the poisonous deposits first begin to collect in the blood, and breed deadly consequences. The accumulation of the poison is slow, and the physical changes which accompany the poisoning of the system are slow also, and this makes the great danger of the disease. Many times the victim of kidney disease does not awaken to danger before the entire system is poisoned, and the struggle for life is desperate and doubtful.

ACT AT ONCE.

Prompt action cannot be too strongly urged upon those who have even the slightest symptoms of "kidney trouble." The timely use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will save both suffering and expense.

"For a long time I was suffering and was hardly able to get about," writes Mr. Andrew J. Jennings, of Thomas, Tucker Co., W. Va., Box 194. "Was bothered with kidney trouble and my whole system was out of order; had no appetite. A friend of mine told me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I did so and the first bottle restored my appetite. I took six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and some of the 'Pleasant Pellets' and feel like a new person. Think there is no better medicine and I heartily recommend these medicines to every one whose sufferings is of the nature that mine was."

The symptoms of kidney disease are many and so variable that it is almost impossible to describe them all. In general the indications of kidney disease are pain in the back and loins, change in the urinary excretion, a depressed feeling with lassitude or weakness; irregular heart beat; hot and dry skin, deranged digestion, variable appetite, urinary incontinence, puffiness about the eyes, swelling of the ankles or in different parts of the body. These symptoms will not be present in any one case, probably, but any one of them is a reason for a prompt attempt to cure its cause.

DON'T TAKE CHANCES.

The symptoms of kidney disease are so variable and so liable to be mistaken that it is no uncommon thing for the inexperienced practitioner to treat the sufferer for the wrong disease. Such was the case probably with Mrs. Hayter, whose letter is given below. "Several different doctors treated her but none did her any good," until she consulted Dr. Pierce:

"I had been sick for more than a year with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Lucy Hayter, of Jacksboro, Jack County, Texas. "Several different doctors treated me, but none did me any good. One doctor said I never could be cured, that I had Bright's disease. I suffered nearly death at times; had spells the doctor called spasms. Was bed-fast most of the time for six months. My mother begged me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. With but little hope I wrote to Dr. Pierce and he said he could cure me. I began to take his Golden Medical Discovery, and although I had given up to die I began to improve from the start, and by the time I had taken twenty-two bottles I was entirely cured. I thank God for the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I weigh more than ever before in my life and I am entirely well."

Dr. Pierce invites any person who suffers from disease in chronic form to consult him by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. A great many people, who, like Mrs. Hayter, have written to Dr. Pierce "with but little hope," have like her been perfectly and permanently cured by his treatment.

FREE ANALYSIS.

An analysis of the urine will be made free of charge. This often determines the nature of the disease when accompanied with a full statement of symptoms. Do not neglect this opportunity to obtain a specialist's opinion on your condition absolutely without fee or charge, together with a free urinary analysis. If you are sick consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, without delay.

It is to be remembered that Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, cleanses the blood of waste substances and so removes one of the causes which conduce to the over-burdening and disease of the kidneys.

Don't be fooled into trading a substance for a shadow. Any substitute offered as "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery" is a shadow of that medicine. There are cures behind every claim made for the "Discovery" which no "just as good" medicine can show.

ENTIRELY FREE.

The best Medical Book free. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, containing more than a thousand large pages and over 700 illustrations, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

DEVELOPMENTS STILL GROWING

In the Normal Site Building Controversy

STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION

Believe That Owen's Former Gift of Land to the State Showed Stand

A new development in the Normal science building site tangle is that the state board of education are averse to allowing T. C. Owen to play the role of 'Indian giver, their position being that he voluntarily turned over to the state a portion of his land and that the delivery should stand.

B. P. Allen, the board's attorney, accepted the deed from T. C. Owen, and then took the responsibility of not having it recorded, for the reason, as he explained to the council, that Owen's condition when he executed the deed was such that he was irresponsible for his actions.

The state board of education do not see the matter in the same light, however, as does Mr. Allen, and they hold that the delivery was legal and that the state is the owner of an acre from the front of the Owen site. It is reported that Mr. Allen has received a letter from the superintendent of public instruction stating that the board are not willing to release Owen, and directing that the deed be recorded.

If Owen should be held to his bargain, the difficulty would be happily solved for the city.

YPSILANTI SIDEWALK CASE DECIDED

The circuit court adjourned sine die Monday after trying one case.

Lucetta M. Witherspoon, of Ypsilanti, asked that the sidewalk tax of $43.15 assessed against her property in Ypsilanti in 1899 be set aside and was given such a decree.

It developed that the council had ordered a new sidewalk on Normal street and the sidewalk on Congress street repaired. The street commissioner had repaired the walk on Normal street and built a new walk on Congress street. The new walk being built where one was noticed to the owner for repair, there was nothing left to do but to set the tax aside.

DOINGS IN MANCHESTER

Manchester, Mich., April 23.—Mrs. George J. Haussler spent Tuesday in Jackson.

Mesdames Kimble and Treefeather were in Tecumseh Tuesday.

Chas. Sloat, of this place, and Josiah Sloat, of Sharon, went to Horton Tuesday to attend the funeral of their mother her death resulting from a paralytic stroke. Her remains will be brought to Sharon for interment.

D. A. Donaldson left Tuesday on a trip through Indiana and Illinois. He was accompanied as far as Jackson by Mrs. Donaldson.

Jos. Kramer and his gang of carpenters went to Ypsilanti Wednesday to work for Chas. Peck.

George Craw has moved the derrick of the old windmill which formerly stood on Exchange place and later in the rear of the Freeman house, to Wampler's lake.

Wm. Brighton, jr., is now proprietor of a four-chair barber shop in Monroe. His friends here are pleased to learn of his success.

Miss Caroline Nisle went to Jackson Tuesday for an extended visit. She has given up her position at Mrs. F. G. Briegel's dressmaking establishment for the present on account of her health. Miss Eliza Graham has taken her place.

H. C. Barton, of Toledo, is a guest at Frank Jacquemains.

J. A. Goodyear and family spent Sunday at Earl Coulson's, in Brooklyn. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tracy, of Jackson, were in town calling on friends Sunday.

Frank Cebulski's team became frightened while drinking at the town pump Tuesday afternoon. They had run but a short distance when one of the horses broke loose, but it was caught in front of the Union Savings bank. The harness was badly broken, but no serious damage was done.

Mr. and Mrs. Merwin of Adrian, formerly of Moscow, spent Tuesday at Dr. J. A. Lynch's.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Adrian arrived here from Detroit Saturday. Mr. Adrian is working for his brother and they will reside here.

A large piece of timber owned by Patrick Costello burned Monday night. The origin of the fire is unknown. It raged all night and although the neighbors turned out in force and did all within their power to stay the flames it was daylight before this was accomplished. All surrounding fences were destroyed and for a time the home of Perry Hunt was in great danger. Another large fire of like nature occurred between Norvell and Napoleon where between five and ten acres of timber was burned over.

WRITE YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS PLAINLY on outside of package containing BANDS or WRAPPERS, and forward them by registered mail, or express prepaid. Be sure to have your package securely wrapped and properly marked, so that it will not be lost in transit. Send bands or wrappers and requests for presents (also requests for catalogues) to C. Hy. Brown, 4241 Folsom Avenue, St. Louis, Mo.

OUR NEW ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE of presents for 1902 includes many articles not shown above. It contains the most attractive list of presents ever offered for bands and wrappers, and will be sent by mail on receipt of postage—two cents.

Our offer of presents for bands and wrappers will expire November 30, 1902.
